Professor

Christos Reppas, Ph.D., is a Professor in Pharmaceutics whose research focuses on the effects of dosage form characteristics and gastrointestinal physiology on the intraluminal performance of xenobiotics, as well as the development of in vitro tests predictive of intraluminal dosage form and drug performance. He has supervised 14 completed Ph.D. theses and coauthored over 160 peer-reviewed papers and book chapters, along with two books on Biopharmaceutics and Drug Disposition and a world patent. Dr. Reppas serves as an associate editor of the AAPS Journal and is a member of the editorial boards of the European Journal of Pharmaceutical Sciences, Journal of Pharmacy and Pharmacology, and Journal of Drug Delivery Science and Technology. He has been the principal investigator in several EU-funded training and research programs, including OrBiTo, PEARRL, COLOTAN, InPharma, and AGePOP, and served as vice-chair of the COST action UNGAP. Additionally, he held the position of Chair of the Department of Pharmacy at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens (2022–2024).
